

Family Health Centres/Clinics

Making Healthcare Services Affordable

Foundation for Reproductive Health Services India (FRHS India) is an affiliate of MSI Reproductive Choices. With the focus on improving access to the underserved people at affordable costs, we have our clinics located in urban areas, catering to the needs of urban poor and clients from nearby villages. Since the clinics are accredited under the National Health Mission's scheme for private providers, all family planning services (with the exception of injectable contraceptives) in the clinics are free of cost. The clinic charges clients seeking an abortion a nominal fee.

Urban poor are often unable to afford the cost of safe abortion services in the private sector. Our clinics have been helping the urban poor by offering client-centred, affordable, and high-quality services.

We currently have clinics in Ajmer, Alwar, Banswara, Jaipur, Kota, and Udaipur in Rajasthan and Gaya and Saharsa in Bihar.

How Do Clinics Work?

Like other service delivery channels, the team is constantly in touch with the community health workers such as Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHAs), Auxiliary Nurse Midwives (ANMs) and local healthcare providers who raise awareness about the availability of services at our clinics. Local public and private health practitioners also refer clients to our clinics, especially for safe abortion and post-abortion care. We usually locate clinics either close to our client's homes or in areas that are easily accessible by public transport.
